

Luxgrove completes the acquisition of residential development site on Carlton Road.

Luxgrove Capital Partners (“Luxgrove”), a leading specialist real estate investment, development and asset management firm, announces the acquisition of residential development site on Carlton Road, Ealing, London.

Luxgrove entered into a subject to planning contract with the seller and obtained planning from the London Borough of Ealing to develop two freehold houses and a block consisting of six luxury apartments.

William Mckenna, Founding Partner & Executive Director of Asset Management, commented:

“The project sits perfectly with our track record of redeveloping and repositioning buildings in Borough of Ealing. The project epitomizes the type of acquisition which has become the hallmark of LRVA Fund.

We intend to create value through the delivery of the scheme, and a strong asset mix for the location. As always, we remain determined to respect and echo the architectural and cultural significance of this location, and to enhance the community in which the asset is located.”
